Transparency International Fiji is organizing a drama competition titled “The Challenge 2010” which is a UNDP (NICE) project approved by the Fiji Government and supported by EU and NZAid. The competition aims to target youths aged between 16-25 years to put together a drama or play based on four modules of civic education including:

- Democracy
- Human Rights
- Constitution and constitutionalism
- Democratic governance

The main aim is to enable youths to utilize their skills, knowledge and values through drama in addressing issues on civic rights and information on democratic governance which supports the foundation of a democratic society and at the same time encourages youths to become good citizens of the country. Youths in Fiji represent a growing percentage of the population. Being future leaders, we would like to engage with them to take out hidden talents and empower youths to realize their capacities as to how they can contribute positively to sustain their livelihood and the society in which they live in through participating in civic education programmes such as The Challenge 2010.

There will be two rounds of auditions. The first round of auditions is where groups need to submit a script and act out a scene for 5 min from the script. For the second round of auditions, groups need to submit a script and act out for 20 min from which 5 groups will be qualified to go in the finals. Prize money is separate for the four divisions; First prize; $4000, Second Prize. $2000 and Third Prize, $1000. The first round of auditions has closed for Suva only.
